At the service of the Mission

Celebrating!.... 100 years of Presence and Service

The Church of Canada owes its first missionary Institute to a woman whose novel ideas were perceived by the thinkers of the time as quite unsettling... her name is Délia Tétreault, in religion: Mother Marie-du-Saint-Esprit. Born in Marieville, Quebec, Délia Tétreault (1865 - 1941) was a child of the nineteenth century, a true daughter of her times in many ways. Yet she had a prophetic role to play in the history of the missions.

June 3, 2002, will mark the centenary of the foundation of Délia Tétreault's work. On that date, 100 years ago, she saw to the launching of an apostolic school in Montreal. In 1904, it became the first missionary Institute of women established in Canada. Pope Pius X himself declared what name it should bear as he said to the Archbishop of Montreal, "You will call it the Society of the Missionary Sisters of the Immaculate Conception."

The creation of this missionary project was a monumental task, one with humble beginnings which would spread to many lands and touch countless lives. Under Délia Tétreault's dynamic initiative, works of the Church at home and in the distant mission fields were set going and blessed with remarkable expansions. M.I.C. Sisters crossed new frontiers - be they in faraway places, neglected peoples, or modern-day challenges. Grace-filled moments abound in their mission journey... and, there are all the people they have come to know and love in Asia, Africa, South America and several other countries around the world.

To all these undertakings must be added Délia Tétreault's vast correspondence which greatly contributes to helping us discover the secrets of her extremely rich and fruitful life. Her heart filled with gratitude, joy and praise to God, she could speak only of thanksgiving... Her gift of self became gratuity and thanksgiving. All this blossomed into a Marian missionary spirituality of thanksgiving which she left as a legacy to her religious family. As our Community celebrates 100 years at the service of the mission, it is with joy and gratitude that we make known God's manifold blessings by echoing in this calendar issue some of our Foundress' precious thoughts.

The best celebration of our centennial is manifested in the generous day-to-day lives of our missionaries. It is our hope that the following pages give our readers glimpses of how the M.I.C.s the world over continue to answer to the need of a never-ending evangelization of the world. May God deign to ever bless and bring this endeavour to rich fruition, especially as we mark a very important milestone in our history.

Ma. Anthes Raso, m.i.c.

Let Me Sing of Your Love...

Let me sing of Your love all the days of my life!

Let me sing of the joy of the morning
and of the quiet of evening,
the fullness of noontime
and the long silence of the night.

O Lord of time and space, I give you thanks.

Let me sing of Your love throughout the seasons of life,

Let me again be moved by the laughter of children
as by the faltering of the elderly.

Blessed be autumn and even the harsh winter,
for Your Easter keeps time from aging.

O Master of our human seasons, we give You thanks.

Let me sing of Your love for the strength You give us,
for the woman who stands up under the weight of so much abuse,

for the humiliated child who still manages to smile,
for exiles who continue to treasure the love of their country,
for young people who set out for distant lands,
wanting to change the world,

for those who return home, rich with so many shared hopes.

For victory over fear, for the music and the dance,
for the cross that rises at our crossroads
and for the light in which we are already flooded...

O Source of life, we give You thanks.

*Spread kindness
lavishly...
Sow happiness
by the handful!*
